the discussion of architecture with all the visibility of its objects tends to downplay the invisible flows of money that sustain its production it is as if the dependency on economic forces is too much to face up to better than to celebrate the catalytic genius of the architectural hero and then the glorious outputs and try to ignore everything else that goes on in between this issue intends to probe the in between space of the operations of architecture examining the intersection of the projects of architecture with economies and with it their associated social and political contexts and implications it is only through a better understanding of the way that contemporary economics cut across architectural operations that one can learn to deal with these dominant forces in a resistive and transformational manner the essays in this volume provide a theorization of what we might call the denatured wild in other words a notion of environmental restoration or reinhabitation that recognizes and reconfigures the human factor as an interdependent entity acknowledging the contributions of marco armerio serenella iovino giovanna ricoveri patrick barron and anna re among others ecocritical approaches to italian culture and literature the denatured wild negotiates the ground within the historicizing theoretical perspectives and surveying spirit of these writers despite the central role that nature has played in italian culture and literature there has been an evident lack of critical approaches free of the bridles of the socio political manipulations of nationalism the authors in this collection by recognizing the groundbreaking work of many non italian ecocritics challenge the narrowly defined conventions of italian studies and illuminates the complexities of an italian ecocriticism that reveals a rich environmentally engaged literary and cultural tradition
